Re: Missing Child – Alexis Boroviak

We continue to tirelessly investigate the disappearance of Alexis Boroviak. We are utilizing all available resources to help locate her and bring her home safely.

At this time, while her location is yet unknown, several pieces of credible information suggests that Alexis had made plans to run away. She had clearly informed friends and extended family members of her intention, but did not offer any solid information as to her intended destination.

We will still continue to investigate this matter until she is safely located, and will investigate all credible leads. Additionally, we will consider all possibilities until the evidence conclusively suggests otherwise.

We will update you with any relevant information when it becomes available.
